Thai Cooking and Carving School at Baan Kaew

Chef Somroj Meepien

"Thai cooking is not just a learning process on how to prepare the cuisine, it is the art form of cooking,"

Chef Somroj says.

The Art of Thai Cooking Begins Here

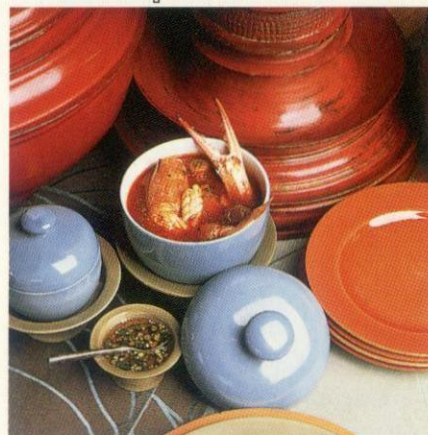

Thai food combines the best of several eastern cuisines: The Oriental bite of Szechwan Chinese, the tropical flavor of Malaysian, the creamy coconut sauces of southern Indian and the aromatic spices of Arabian food.

Many Thai dishes require up to days of preparation to achieve the perfect flavor and texture. The Thai Cooking School of Le Royal Meridien Buan Taling Ngam covers every major facet of Thai cooking. From a visit to the local markets with an expert who will teach you how to select and purchase the freshest available ingredients, to a brief lecture which is followed by a demonstration and hands-on participation.

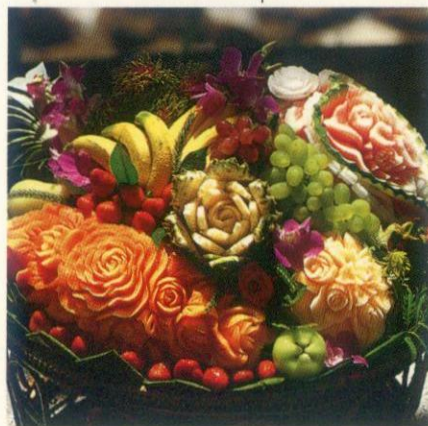

Not only you will graduate with the skills to create Thai feasts of the highest standards, but you will also gain insight into the art of Thai cooking and the fascinating culture and traditions of Thailand.
